PURPOSE

With the growing number of young children (birth – third grade) increasing in Vermont, practitioners may struggle with implementing appropriate assessment strategies, utilizing culturally appropriate information gathering skills with families, engaging families in the process of assessment, intervention and preschool placement, and knowing how to work effectively with interpreters, translators, cultural mediators and parent school liaisons. Confidence, comfort, and capability with these skills are essential to supporting the full participation of each young child with a home language other than English and the successful engagement of each child’s family in supporting that child’s full potential.

The purpose of this toolkit is to provide early childhood colleagues with evidence-based practices, tools, and strategies improve and increase the use of inclusive, culturally appropriate, responsive, and research based practices for culturally and ability diverse young children who are Dual Language Learners (DLLs) and their families.

- The majority of resouces in the toolkit are readily available to access online at no cost.
- Resources that are not free but are very worthwhile investments are highlighted in green boxes.
- Under each heading, resources are organized by type, using the coding system below.

SUPPORTING THE LEARNING AND DEVELOPMENT OF YOUNG CHILDREN WHO ARE DLLS

America's Hispanic Children: Gaining Ground, Looking Forward (0-9)

<http://www.childtrends.org/?publications=americas-hispanic-children-gaining-ground-looking-forward>

This report presents a rich and nuanced statistical portrait of America's Latino children, drawn from the latest nationally-representative data. Some facets will be familiar, others are less well known. All have important economic and social implications, particularly with respect to education as the pathway to fulfilling aspirations.

California's Best Practices for Young Dual Language Learners: Research Overview Papers (3-5)

<http://www.cde.ca.gov/sp/cd/ce/documents/dllresearchpapers.pdf>

As a set, these six research overviews reflect research related to the learning and development of young children who are dual language learners. They provide insight into how young dual learners. They provide insight into how young DLLs learn two languages, and also how they learn and develop in other domains. At the same time, the research summaries provide guidance to early childhood educators on how to support the learning and development of children who are dual language learners.

The Changing Geography of Hispanic Children and Families (0-9)

<http://www.childtrends.org/wp-content/uploads/2016/01/Emerging-Communities.pdf?0.70219200%201454605819>

This brief reviews the changing geography of Hispanics in the US and the key demographic drivers of these changes.

Childhood, Culture and Creativity: A Literature Review (0-9)

http://www.academia.edu/679206/Childhood_Culture_and_Creativity_A_Literature_Review

Using the new sociology of childhood as a theoretical framework, this literature review synthesizes the research on childhood, culture and creativity. More specifically, this review examines the relationships between culture and creativity and the areas of play, multimodal communication, and new technologies for young children.

Cognitive Development of Young Dual Language Learners: A Critical Review of the Research (0-6)

<http://cecerdll.fpg.unc.edu/sites/cecerdll.fpg.unc.edu/files/imce/documents/3015-Research-Brief-11.pdf>

The purpose of this critical review was to synthesize the existing research on cognitive development in children who are dual language learners and to identify the gaps and methodological concerns present in the existing research.

Competencies for Working Effectively with Young Dual Language Learners (3-5)

<http://afabc.org/getmedia/8c3e612e-7c2a-46cb-8c7e-b3f30f09c16f/DLLTCreport.allLOW-RES.aspx>

This report thoroughly and thoughtfully lays out the competencies needed by teachers to work effectively with young children who are dual language learners.

Federal Guidance - English Language Learners (3-9)

<http://www2.ed.gov/policy/elsec/leg/essa/essatitleiiiiguidenglishlearners92016.pdf>

This is a September 2016 collection of non-regulatory guidance that has been released to help States, school districts, and schools provide effective services that improve the English language proficiency and academic achievement of English language learners through Title III of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA). The ESSA promotes the inclusion of English language learners as young as age 3 in early learning programs as part of Title III (see the relevant statutory provisions on pages 31-34). This and additional guidance related to the ESSA can be found at <http://www2.ed.gov/policy/elsec/leg/essa/index.html>

Intersecting Inequalities: Research to Reduce Inequality for Immigrant-Origin Children and Youth (0-9)

<http://wtgrantfoundation.org/resource/intersecting-inequalities-research-to-reduce-inequality-for-immigrant-origin-children-and-youth>

This synthesis explores how inequality plays out along these six dimensions of disadvantage particular to immigrant-origin families, outlines how developments in educational and family contexts can alleviate unequal outcomes and opportunities, and introduces four broad areas of future research that may inform policies, programs, and practices to reduce inequality for immigrant-origin children and youth.

English Learner (EL) Tool Kit (3-9)

The tool kit is designed to help state and local education agencies (SEAs and LEAs) in meeting their legal obligations¹ to ELs and in providing all ELs with the support needed to attain English language proficiency while meeting college- and career-readiness standards. The EL Tool Kit is intended primarily for state, district, and school administrators, as well as teachers, but may also inform other stakeholders concerned with the education of ELs. Each chapter provides (1) explanations of the civil rights and other legal obligations to ELs; (2) checklists SEAs, LEAs, and schools can use as self-monitoring tools; (3) sample tools that may be used or adapted for use in SEAs, LEAs, and schools to aid with compliance; and (4) additional resources that may provide further relevant information and assistance.² The tool kit does not encompass all resources about EL services, only a sample. For the reader's convenience, the tools and resources are free and accessible via the Internet.

Language and Literacy Development in Dual Language Learners: A Critical Review of the Research (0-5)

<http://cecerdll.fpg.unc.edu/sites/cecerdll.fpg.unc.edu/files/imce/documents/Brief%20%236%20Lang%20Final%207-15-11.pdf>

This research brief summarizes findings based on a review of the literature of that language and literacy development of children from birth through 5 who are dual language learners.

Multilingual Children Beyond Myths and Toward Best Practices (0-9)

http://www.srcl.org/sites/default/files/documents/E-News/spr_27_4.pdf

This compilation presents an array of practices, programs and policies that can support families and children to maintain their home language and subsequently their culture.

Policy Statement on Supporting the Development of Children Who Are Dual Language Learners in Early Childhood Programs https://www.acf.hhs.gov/sites/default/files/eecd/dll_policy_statement_final.pdf (0-5)

This joint policy statement from the US Departments of Health and Human Services and Education was created to support early childhood programs and States by providing recommendations that promote the development and learning of young children, birth to age five, who are dual language learners (DLLs). The document describes specific challenge in policies and practices and makes recommendations to states.

PreK-3rd: Challenging Common Myths About Dual Language Learners: An Update to the 2008 Report (3-9)

<http://www.buildinitiative.org/Portals/0/Uploads/Documents/PreK-3rd%20-%20Challenging%20Common%20Myths%20About%20DLLs.pdf>

This brief presents two new and updates five commonly held beliefs about the development and learning of young children who are learning English as their second language and presents current research evidence that can better guide our policies and our support for young DLLs.

Research Based on Best Practices for DLLs in PreK-3rd Grade: Instructional Strategies and Language of Instruction (3-9)

https://www.mcknight.org/system/asset/document/864/original/Castro_NRSECDLL_2014.pdf

This paper discusses the knowledge based needed to provide high quality education to this diverse group of children during the critical early years of schooling (Pre-K to third grade). Developmental and contextual considerations when designing instruction for children who are dual language learners are discussed. Research-based instructional strategies and language of instruction approaches for the education of children who are dual language learners PreK-3rd grade are described, followed by a discussion of instructional approaches in multilingual classrooms.

Responding to Linguistic and Cultural Diversity: Recommendations for Effective Early Childhood Education (0-9)

<http://www.naeyc.org/files/naeyc/file/positions/PSDIV98.PDF> (English)

<http://www.naeyc.org/files/naeyc/file/positions/PSDISP98.PDF> (Spanish)

NAEYC's position statement describes children who are linguistically and culturally diverse and outlines the challenges in responding to the needs these diverse families. It also provides recommendations for working with children, their families, as well as recommendations for preparing professionals, and programs and practice.

SUPPORTING THE LEARNING AND DEVELOPMENT OF YOUNG CHILDREN WHO ARE DLLS

Responsiveness to ALL Children, Families, and Professionals: Integrating Cultural and Linguistic Diversity into Policy and Practice (0-9) http://dec.membershipsoftware.org/files/Position%20Statement%20and%20Papers/Position%20Statement_Cultural%20and%20Linguistic%20Diversity.pdf

This short position statement presents six key features of organizations that are responsive to the culture, values, and language of families. It also includes a definition of the terms “culture” and “values”.

Screening and Assessment of Young English Language Learners (0-9)

http://www.naeyc.org/files/naeyc/file/positions/ELL_SupplementLong.pdf (English)

<http://www.naeyc.org/files/naeyc/file/positions/ELLSupplementShortSpanish.pdf> (Spanish)

The aim of this document is to explain and expand on the meaning of “linguistically and culturally responsive,” to discuss other issues uniquely related to the screening and assessment of young English-language learners, and to make specific recommendations to increase the probability that all young English-language learners will have the benefit of appropriate, effective assessment of their learning and development.

Social–Emotional Development of Dual Language Learners: Looking Back at Existing Research and Moving Forward with Purpose (0-5)

http://cecerdll.fpg.unc.edu/sites/cecerdll.fpg.unc.edu/files/imce/images/%232817_ResBrief%237_FinalRvsd-2.pdf

This 2014 review by Tamara Halle and her colleagues describes the state of existing knowledge with regard to children who are dual language learners’ (DLLs) social–emotional development birth to age 5. The review focuses on widely recognized dimensions of children’s social–emotional development. Results suggest that DLLs have at least equal (if not better) social–emotional outcomes compared to native English speakers. There is also evidence that the use of home language in early childhood classrooms can be a positive, moderating factor for DLLs’ social–emotional development.

State Early Learning and Development Standards/Guidelines, Policies & Related Practices: How Responsive Are They to the Needs of Young Dual Language Learners? (3-5)

<http://buildinitiative.org/Portals/0/Uploads/Documents/BuildDLLReport2015.pdf>

This report summarizes research findings in response to two questions: 1) To what extent do the states’ Early Learning and Development Standards (ELDS) reflect the current research and address the learning needs of preschool-aged children who are dual language learners (DLLs)?, and 2) What next steps can states take to better meet the needs of DLLs?

The State of Young Hispanic Children (0-9)

<http://www.childtrends.org/?publications=state-of-young-hispanic-children>

This fact sheet includes information about demographics, education, the family, and the health of Hispanic children.

Supporting Parent and Caregiver Involvement in Early Literacy Practices with Young Children from Diverse Backgrounds and Abilities (3-5)

http://depts.washington.edu/hscenter/sites/default/files/01_15m_inclusion_inservice/08_family_literacy/documents/family_literacy_research_brief.pdf

This brief highlights findings from six studies on evidence-based practices for supporting effective family/caregiver involvement in supporting literacy for young children from diverse backgrounds, languages, and abilities.

What Early Childhood Educators Need to Know: Developing Effective Programs for Linguistically and Culturally Diverse Children and Families <http://www.naeyc.org/files/tyc/file/WhatECENeedToKnow.pdf> (0-9)

This paper discusses issues commonly faced by second-language learners. It also describes the process of second-language acquisition, and provides ways in which this learning can be supported in the classroom and with parents.

Where We Stand on Assessing Young English Language Learners (0-9)

<http://www.naeyc.org/files/naeyc/file/positions/WWSEnglishLanguageLearnersWeb.pdf> (English)

<http://www.naeyc.org/files/naeyc/file/positions/ELLSpanishWWS.pdf> (Spanish)

The recommendations in this synthesis, along with with specific indicators of effective practice, are intended to help policy makers, program administrators, teachers, and others improve screening and assessment practices for young DLLs.

Where We Stand on Responding to Linguistic and Cultural Diversity (0-9)

<http://www.naeyc.org/files/naeyc/file/positions/diversity.pdf>

NAEYC’s document summarizes recommendations for early childhood programs in working with families and children from linguistically and culturally diverse background, as well as recommendations for preparing early childhood professionals.

SUPPORTING THE LEARNING AND DEVELOPMENT OF YOUNG CHILDREN WHO ARE DLLS

Anhelos y Logros [Aspirations and Achievements] (5-9)

https://ncela.ed.gov/files/uploads/22/Anhelos_y_Logros.pdf

This is a Spanish-language publication aimed at parents of dual language K-3 grade children that supports parents role as partners and advocates in education; this includes information about learning goals for each grade, how to establish study habits and home and how to collaborate with educators and schools to boost learning and achievement in their K-3 children.

Assessing Classroom Quality in Settings Serving Young Dual Language Learners (3-5)

<http://www.buildinitiative.org/Portals/0/Uploads/Documents/AssessingClassroomQualityinSettingsServingYoungDualLanguageLearners.pdf>

This review examined various measures of classroom or childcare setting quality with predominantly Spanish speaking child populations and concluded that the currently used ECE classroom quality assessments operate similarly for DLLs and children who are monolingual English speakers.

Challenging Common Myths About Young English Language Learners (3-9)

<http://fcd-us.org/sites/default/files/MythsOfTeachingELLsEspinosa.pdf>

In this article, Linda Espinosa addresses six common myths about the language development of young English language by providing evidence to refute each one.

Chaos for Dual Language Learners: An Examination of State Policies for Exiting Children from Language Services in the PreK-3rd Grades (3-9)

http://www.edcentral.org/wp-content/uploads/2014/09/chaosfordlls-conorwilliams-20140925_v3.pdf

This report examines of state policies for exiting children from language services in the PreK-3rd grades and offers guidance on developing policies and practices that are more supportive of children and families.

Code Switching: Why it Matters and How to Respond (0-5)

<http://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/tta-system/cultural-linguistic/fcp/docs/code-switching.pdf> (English)

<http://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/Espanol/aprendizaje/ncclr-esp/docs/code-switching-spanish.pdf> (Spanish)

This workbook is designed to assist programs to understand code switching by children and teachers, and identify and implement effective program policies and practices that promote children's development and school readiness.

The Cognitive Consequences of Early Bilingualism (0-3)

http://main.zerotothree.org/site/DocServer/29-2_Yoshida.pdf

The study of bilingual children shows that learning and using two languages may affect fundamental aspects of cognitive and neural development that influence how knowledge is acquired and used. The positive effects of bilingualism are seen most profoundly in what are known as executive function or self-control tasks, and in how the knowledge that young bilingual speakers have in one language is transferred to the other language. The author explores how the findings about cognitive flexibility among bilinguals are critical issues for classroom learning.

Cultural Influences on Early Language and Literacy Teaching Practices (0-3)

http://main.zerotothree.org/site/DocServer/ZTT27-1_Parlakian.pdf

This article presents five knowledge bases about the influence of cultural on teachers and how it impacts their teaching practices. It also offers suggestions on how teachers can create a more culturally sensitive learning environment for children from diverse backgrounds.

Defining and Measuring Quality in Early Childhood Practices that Promote Dual Language Learners' Development and Learning (0-5)

<http://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/tta-system/cultural-linguistic/fcp/docs/zaslow-chapter-11.pdf>

This chapter discusses important considerations for the development of measures of quality practices to promote development for children who are dual language learner. This includes early bilingual development and how it affects children's cognitive, language, literacy, and social-emotional development, the elements of high-quality early education for DLLs, and quality measures that assess the quality of practices to promote development and learning in DLLs.

Dual Language Learners with Challenging Behavior (0-5) http://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/tta-system/cultural-linguistic/center/Dual%20Language%20Learners/ecd/supportive_environments/DualLanguageLea.htm

Children communicate so much through their behavior. Teachers and caregivers will find this article useful in identifying strategies for working with children who are dual language learners and exhibit challenging behaviors.

Dual Language Learning: What Does It Take? (0-5)

<http://www.buildinitiative.org/Portals/0/Uploads/Documents/Dual%20Language%20Learning%20-%20What%20Does%20It%20Take.pdf>

Following a project that assessed program needs, opportunities, and barriers and gathered resources and innovative programming ideas, this document was assembled to summarize recommendations and suggestions from the field.

Enhancing Early Language Through Interactive Communication (0-5)

http://www.puentesculturales.com/New_Puentes_Culturales_Webpage/Resources_and_Links_files/Enhancing%20Early%20Language%20Through%20Interactive%20Communication.pdf

Dr. Moore's article describes and gives examples of how to use effective, evidence-based practices, ranging from wait time and mirroring to following the child's lead and turn taking.

How Can You Create a Learning Environment That Respects Diversity? (0-9)

<http://www.adl.org/assets/pdf/education-outreach/How-Can-You-Create-a-Learning-Environment-That-Respects-Diversity.pdf>

This short article discusses how early childhood educators can create learning environments that are inclusive and respect diversity through the use of anti-bias materials, images, and language. A list of guiding questions is offered at the end of the article to help educators assess if their program provides an inclusive, bias-free environment.

How Do English Language Learners Learn to Read? (3-9)

http://www.ascd.org/ASCD/pdf/journals/ed_lead/el200403_slavin.pdf

This paper presents an overview of the research on reading instruction in bilingual education and effective reading programs. It concludes with implications for policy and practice.

Importance of Home Language Series (0-5)

<http://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/tta-system/cultural-linguistic/center/home-language.html>

This series of handouts is designed to provide early childhood professionals and families with basic information on topics related to children learning two or more languages. They emphasize the benefits of being bilingual, the importance of maintaining home language, and the value of becoming fully bilingual. These easy-to-read resources highlight important information that every adult living or working with children who are dual language learners should know.

¡Imaginate! [Imagine!] <http://www.ncela.us/files/uploads/22/Imagine.pdf> (3-5)

Here's a Spanish-language publication aimed at parents of dual language preschoolers that is designed to promote evidence-based early literacy practices, while leveraging the important and influential role family members have in developing bilingual, bi-literate readers.

Making Math Count More for Young Latino Children (4-6)

<http://www.childtrends.org/wp-content/uploads/2017/02/Early-Math-Report-2.8.pdf>

One in four U.S. kindergartners today is Latino. This 2017 report finds that Latino kindergartners' early math skills lag behind those of white kindergartners at the beginning of school - a disparity that is likely to persist or increase over time without intervention. The report discusses the implications of these findings and offers a number of research-based recommendations to address the issue.

Many Languages, One Teacher: Supporting Language and Literacy Development for Preschool Dual Language Learners (0-5)

http://www.naeyc.org/yc/files/yc/file/201303/Many_Languages_Margruder_0313_0.pdf

This article highlights effective strategies for monolingual English-speaking teachers to use to promote language and literacy growth for children who are dual language learners, with emphasis on growth in the home language.

Meeting the Home Language Mandate: Practical Strategies for All Classrooms (0-9)

<http://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/tta-system/teaching/eecd/domains%20of%20child%20development/language%20development%20and%20communication/meetingthelanguage.pdf>

This article provides strategies that practitioners can use to support the home languages in their classrooms.

Palabras [Words] <http://www.ncela.us/files/uploads/22/Palabras.pdf> (3-9)

This is a Spanish-language publication that draws from literacy and reading research and is aimed at parents of preK-3 grade children. It supports the influential role parents can play in helping their children develop vocabulary and offers information about the relationship between vocabulary development and overall school success.

Phonological Awareness is Child's Play! (3-9)

This paper explains the importance of phonological awareness in reading development and describes useful and practical ways in which teachers can support children's phonological awareness development. Attention is paid to how English and Spanish phonemes vary, and the implications for supporting each young reader.

Practical and Proven Strategies for Teaching Young Dual Language Learners (3-5)

<http://www.buildinitiative.org/Portals/0/Uploads/Documents/Practical%20and%20Proven%20Strategies%20for%20Teaching%20Young%20Dual%20Language%20Learners.pdf>

This chapter covers the components of research-based best practices for young children who are dual language learners (DLLs), the specific instructional enhancements that promote oral language development based on the POLL approach, how to conduct observational assessments and use assessment data for instructional planning, and effective outreach activities for engaging the families of young dual language families.

Preschool English Learners: Principles and Practices to Promote Language, Literacy, and Learning: A Resource Guide (3-5)

Los Niños Aprenden En Casa: Valuing & Connecting Home Cultural Knowledge With an Early Childhood Program <http://www.naeyc.org/files/yc/file/200311/ValuingHomeCulture.pdf> (3-9)

This article presents the findings from a five-day parent Institute where parents from a bilingual community were taught how children learn, followed by an activity with the children and teachers. Parents were also asked to reflect on what they had learned. Through this Institute, parents realized the importance of teachable moments in the home and the teachers learnt to appreciate the strengths of the different families.

Making a Difference: A Framework for Supporting First and Second Language Development in Preschool Children of Migrant Farm Workers <http://files.eric.ed.gov/fulltext/ED500795.pdf> (3-5)

This document provides answers to four questions: 1) Can we facilitate children's acquisition of English without the loss of their first language? 2) How can we understand the how and when of developmental processes related to first and second language acquisition? 3) Does it matter how adults use English and children's home language when they talk to children? And 4) When we continue development of the first language and facilitate English, what does it look like day-to-day?

The strategies in this document can serve as a guide to teachers in providing different options for responding to children as they move in and out of the different stages of learning a second language.

Same, Different, and Diverse: Understanding Children Who Are Dual Language Learners (0-5)

<https://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/tta-system/cultural-linguistic/ecd/same-different-diverse.html>

Evidence-based examples highlight similarities among ALL young children – those who are learning one or several languages (e.g., children are born with natural capabilities for language and for learning), differences between children growing up with one language (monolinguals) and children who are DLLs (e.g., children may learn some ideas such as counting, in one of their languages but not the other), and diversity among children who are DLLs (e.g., individual differences of temperament, interests, etc.). The intent of this publication is to support the school readiness for children who are dual language learners by helping educators to understand each child's unique characteristics and needs.

Second Language Acquisition Stages (0-9)

This article offers clear guidance for evidence-based practices for partnering with families and other cultural/linguistic partners (cultural mediators, interpreters, translators) to support young children.

Understanding the Impact of Language Differences on Classroom Behavior (0-5)

<http://csefel.vanderbilt.edu/briefs/www2.pdf>

This What Works Brief from CSEFEL explains second language learning and development and presents key features of assessment to identify the child's strengths and needs. Suggestions for teachers and other caregivers are provided.

Unlocking Learning: Science as a Lever for English Learner Equity (5-9)

<https://west.edtrust.org/resource/unlocking-learning-science-lever-english-learner-equity/>

Based on in-depth site visits and featuring real world examples of high-performing schools, high-quality professional development, and innovative classroom practices, this January 2017 report lays out a blueprint for increasing access and achievement in science for young English learners. Key takeaways of the report include:

- Research shows that weaving together science and language development can increase students' academic performance in reading, writing, and science simultaneously.
- Some promising practices are resulting in achievement levels that are double and even triple the state average for English learners who met or exceeded proficiency.

The report concludes with district-level and state-level recommendations, along with a series of questions for community stakeholders to ask in their advocacy for closing English learner achievement gaps in science.

What Teachers Need to Know About Language <http://files.eric.ed.gov/fulltext/ED444379.pdf> (0-9)

Today's teachers need access to a wide range of information to function in the classroom. They need a thorough understanding of how language figures in education, and for that reason they must receive systemic and intensive preparation in educational linguistics. A thorough grounding in linguistics would support teachers' undertakings overall, and in particular in teaching literacy skills and working with English language learners. This paper lays out a rationale for why current and prospective teachers need to know more about language, and what specific sorts of knowledge they need. Requisite knowledge about oral language, oral language used in formal and academic contexts, and written language is discussed.

When Learning a Second Language Means Losing the First (0-9)

<http://psych.stanford.edu/~babylab/pdfs/sdarticle.pdf>

This article discusses evidence and findings from a nationwide study of language shift among language-minority children in the U.S. The findings suggest that the loss of a primary language, particularly when it is the only language spoken by parents, can be very costly to the children, their families, and to society as a whole.

Young Dual Language Learners: Gathering Background Information (0-5)

<https://eclkc.ohs.acf.hhs.gov/hslc/tta-system/cultural-linguistic/fcp/docs/young-DLL.pdf>

In order to support learning and development for children who are Dual Language Learners (DLLs), early childhood staff need to understand children's backgrounds and experiences with more than one language. Staff should gather information from each child's parents and family to get the full picture of a child's overall language background. This helpful document offers suggestions for how practitioners can "put together the puzzle" of his/her languages and use this information for curriculum planning, individualizing and supporting continued progress.

Developing Language Through Thematic Learning (3-5)

<https://www.teachingchannel.org/videos/dual-language-programs>

The preschool program at Mission Neighborhood Center features a teacher-based dual language model, where students learn from English and Spanish role models. In this video, we see students working on a thematic unit about community workers while simultaneously building language skills.

Developing Literacy Skills With Dual Language Learners (3-5)

<https://www.teachingchannel.org/videos/dual-language-learners-literacy-skills>

Carmen Ngan builds her students' expressive and receptive language skills through reading, writing, and speaking. Notice how Ms. Ngan grows her students' vocabularies and helps them develop an understanding of the relationship between spoken and written language.

Diversity: Contrasting Perspectives <http://www.learningseed.com/catalog/diversity-contrasting-perspectives>

This video introduces diverse perspectives on various aspects of caregiving that impact health, safety and nutrition in the home and child care settings. It discusses the cultural differences in caregiving practices ranging from feeding to toilet teaching.

Dual Language Learners with Disabilities: Supporting Young Children in the Classroom (3-9)

<http://iris.peabody.vanderbilt.edu/module/dll/>

This Module offers an overview of young children who are dual language learners. Further, it highlights the importance of maintaining children and families' home language at the same time they are learning a new or second language, discusses considerations for screening and assessing these children, and identifies strategies for supporting them in inclusive preschool classrooms.

Fostering a Culture of Inclusion: Supporting the Learning & Development of Dual Language Learners (0-9)
